

Hey Condors! I'm Jadah, a level 2 nursing student, and I'm running for the CSI Board of Directors. I'm running because I understand the ins and outs of a director, and I have the drive and experience to hit the ground running on day one.

A Little Bit About Me

Before nursing, I took the Personal Support Worker program here at Conestoga! That program taught me how to advocate for people when it mattered most. When I'm not studying or practicing my skills with my little sisters, you'll find me volunteering at my local hospital or at home editing social media content. I'm a student just like you, balancing the grind, but I also have the background of an elected executive of a Student Government Association, and a Student Ambassador here at Conestoga! I know how student government works from the inside out.

My Plan

The board of directors' role is to represent you and hold the organization accountable, ensuring your fees are used effectively. If elected, here is how I will tackle the official duties of the role:

- Your Voice: According to the CSI bylaws, students are the "owners" of the corporation. I'll make sure that there is ongoing, two-way communication so you actually know what is happening within CSI.
- Setting the "Ends Priorities": I will work to define the clear benefits and outcomes you should be receiving from CSI. Whether it's better services, mental health support or other resources, I'll help set goals that the executives must achieve.
- Professional Oversight: Another part of the director's role is to monitor the organization's and the President's performance. With my student government experience, I know the ins and outs of organizations like CSI as well as what works and what doesn't.

My Previous Experience

My background has prepared me to handle the responsibilities of the Director role. In my previous student government role, I learned how to build a consensus among people with opposing viewpoints. On a board, the ability to agree to disagree and move forward is essential. I am also comfortable with reviewing and interpreting policies and budgets to ensure that your student fees are being used ethically and in your best interest.

Conclusion

A director must be someone with integrity, open ears and an open mind. I have the drive and dedication to uphold CSI's bylaws while keeping students informed and engaged with CSI. I am ready to work hard, listen well and represent YOU!
